IT'S ALL IN THE FAMILY

By BOB McANDREWS

It's just another family feud, this afternoon's wrangle.

San Francisco's son, its own University, is being encroached upon again by that adopted child from across the bay, Saint Mary's College.

Motherly San Francisco has taken both to her bosom in the past, lavishing affection now on one, now on the other.

Natural son and adopted son have lived in family harmony for years, with the exception of a squabble now and then like that of this afternoon. It happens in the best regulated families when football is concerned.

The adopted son has matured more quickly in the past, and, as a result, the natural son has borne the brunt of the lickings. In fact, for the past nine years the proud and scrappy Don has been unable to best the interloping Gael.

Each game, however, has seen the Don coming closer and closer to the crowning ambition of his youth: victory, just one smashing victory, over the Gael. Back in 1926 Don took it on the chin to the tune of 38-0. A few years later he was still taking it, but not quite so hard—13-0, to be exact. Then last fall, in a breath-taking bang-up battle, he took it once again by the narrow margin of 7-3. Even the Gael admitted that he was fortunate to win that one.

So far this season both the Gael and the Don have gone outside the family circle for their football scuffles. The results of those foreign engagements indicate that the two are exactly matched for today's tussle. Each has defeated the only common opponent, University of Nevada, by 20 points: the Gael 20-0, the Don 27-7.

In their other encounters, neither has been very brilliant, although that makes no difference when a real family fight is scheduled. San Francisco has defeated Gonzaga and lost to Santa Clara and Stanford. Saint Mary's has defeated Pacific and lost to California. Each has won the easy ones, lost the hard ones.

Baby brothers put on their miniature battle last Sunday right in this same spot, and some see in its outcome a presage of today's result. That outcome was U. S. F. Frosh 0, Saint Mary's Frosh 0.

The respective tutors of the two children are also pitting respective skill and cunning, and respective systems of education, through their pupils this afternoon.

Don's Tutor, Mr. Lewis, is an exponent of that ancient educational system, the Warner wing-back method.

Gael's Tutor, Mr. Madigan, is a devotee of that equally ancient and honorable but opposite plan, the Rockne shift method.

Some there are who say that a Warner team can always best a Rockne team, other conditions being equal. Others, and just as many, aver vice versa.

Whatever the respective merits of the general systems it is a fact that Tutor Madigan's particular brand of the Rockne plan inevitably has proven successful against the adaptations of San Francisco's Tutor Lewis and Stanford's old Tutor Warner.

The Gael has rested for two weeks in preparation for today's encounter, and declares himself in excellent physical condition.

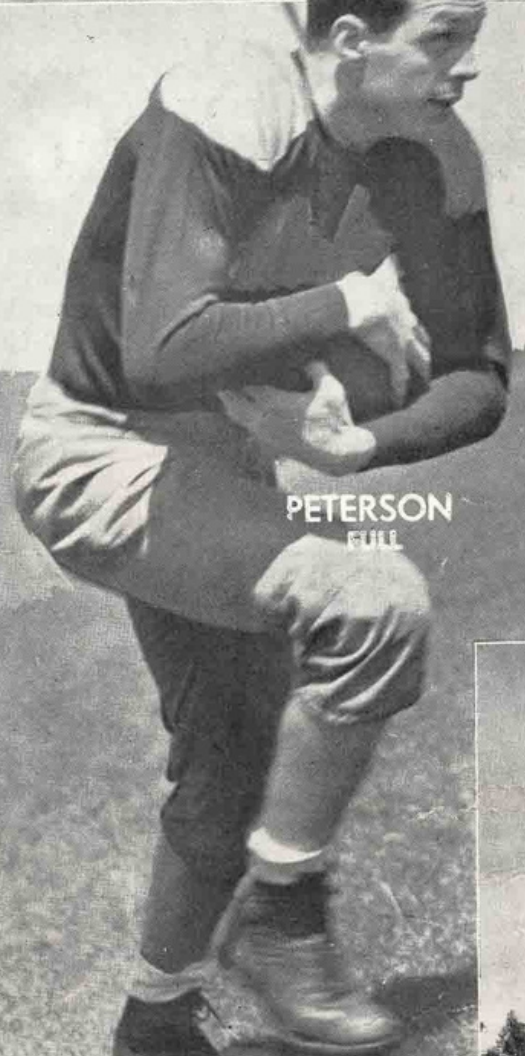

The Don has prepared for the afternoon by taking on Gonzaga, 1500 miles away, last weekend and trimming him 20-0. The Don says that the inspiration of that victory is sweeter nectar to him than the easy loaf of the Gael.

So on with the feud as Mother and Father San Francisco settle back in their seats and uphold a policy of non-intervention.

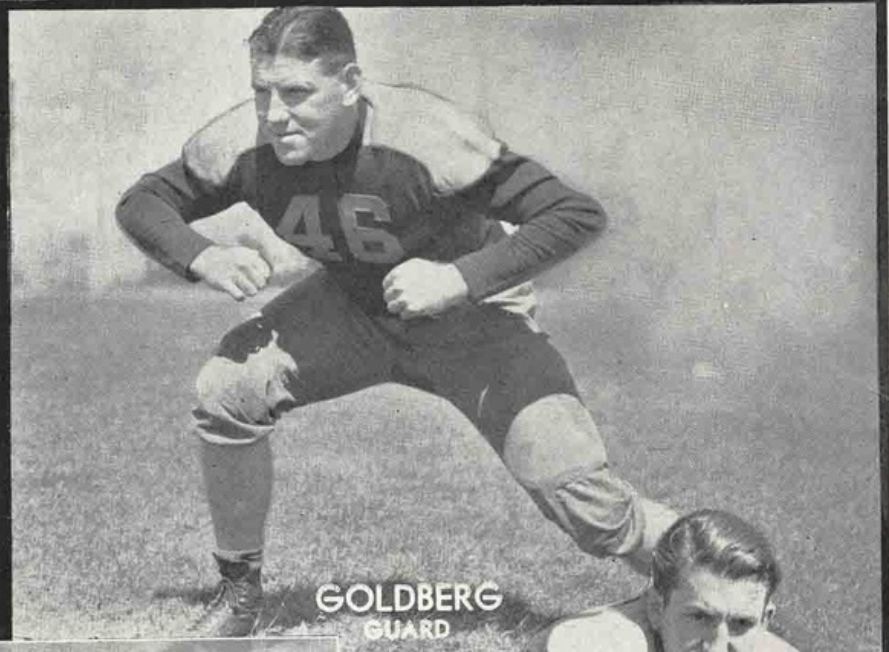

Whatever the result, it's all in the family.

Introducing the Moraga Football Family, with news and notes not so widely publicized in the sports pages:

BOB TIMM, left end, is a product of Dixon, a typical blond Nordic known as "Dutch" to his mates; Spalding's official football guide credits him with receiving the longest scoring pass thrown during the 1934 season—it was tossed by Harry Mattos, went for over 60 yards, and helped Saint Mary's defeat Columbia in this stadium 61-0; Timm is No. 63; in the Pacific game he was working the end-around play like a halfback for big gains; a junior.

HERMAN MEISTER, No. 33, left tackle, is a senior and one of the best liked men on the squad; despite his heft, Herm is a crooner who is much in demand for college radio programs and lodge entertainments; Herm is slightly superstitious—he always knots his right shoelace before a game; and (whisper it carefully) he is known to his intimates as Fifi; a graduate of San Francisco's Polytechnic.

and has received several offers from dance orchestras; Marty is a consistent honor student, majors in history and spends his spare time studying his Slavic ancestors; in the Nevada game he happily discovered a fellow countryman playing end for the Wolves, and the two of them enjoyed calling each other Slavic names for the duration of the contest.

WAG JORGENSEN, No. 41, center, another senior, graduate of Burlingame High, brother of another former Gael great, Carl Jorgensen; was a tackle like his brother in his freshman year, but has been a marvel since being changed to the pivot post; Wagner was born in Denmark, but you'd never guess it to hear him debate for the Gael forensic varsity over the radio; he has been offered an executive post with an oil company upon graduation.

HUGH O'CONNOR, No. 72, right guard, was Meister's rival when he played an all-city game for Lowell High; U. S. F. remembers "Bucky" all too well—he it was who snatched a loose ball out of the air and ran 60 yards for the winning touchdown in the last Gael-Don fracas; a senior.

BILL WILKIN, No. 60, right tackle, is the lone sophomore in the starting line; a veritable young giant, Bill is 236 pounds, 6 feet 4 inches tall, and only 19 years old; at home in Springville, Utah, he was all-state tackle in football, center in basketball and shot-putter in track.

EDDIE ERDELATZ, No. 37, right end, another senior, a San Franciscan, an alumnus of Saint Mary's High in Berkeley; a stout heart beats beneath this gentleman's 200 pounds—a few scant months ago he lay in a hospital bed with an infected leg harnessed in an uncomfortable cast—the steady stream of visitors sympathized with this lad who so loved a game which he would never again play; Eddie's very presence on the turf today is proof that the spirit is still mightier than the body; Ed spends his spare time cartooning for the college newspaper and joining Meister and Kordick in singing at college functions; he plans to coach after graduation, and some there are who hint that Mr. Madigan will not allow this pearl of great price to leave the Moraga domain.

MAL FIESE, No. 32, senior from Salinas, is also a brilliant student; has averaged over 40 yards per punt as varsity kicker for the past three seasons; spends summers as a Salinas ice man; hurt in the California game, should be in shape today.

S P A R K S

WALLY MORSE, No. 67, quarterback, is a junior from Salt Lake City—the lone representative of that great city on the Gael squad; an unquenchable spirit and an uncanny blocking ability have put this smiling lad on the regular team after an uphill fight; Wally is a dead ringer for the golf champ, Lawson Little; told in spring practice that he was overweight for a back, he took a hard physical job this summer and came back minus twenty pounds.

HERB SCHREIBER, No. 76, left halfback, needs little introduction; the workhorse and brains of the Gael backfield is Mr. Schreiber; also a senior and a San Franciscan, Herb is a product of Mission High; his signal calling against Pacific was practically perfect; he is the classiest of the Moraga backs in ball-toting, with fancy steps that look like those of a ballet-dancer; Herb also works for an oil company in vacations; he believes in looking ahead—at the Pacific game, when the O'Neill Sisters Kiddies put on a football dance between halves, Herb made a date with one of the 8-year-old tykes for 15 years from now.

TONY FALKENSTEIN, No. 57, is the dark horse of Saint Mary's football of 1935; also a sophomore, Tony is a native of Pueblo, Colorado, and is the surprise package of the season with his exceptional hard-driving and speedy running; he spends his summers working for a sugar refinery.

KELLY KELLOGG, No. 34, fullback, is another hoary veteran of the Gael campaigns who has been chosen to captain his team in today's game; all the way from Marseilles, Illinois, comes this senior—right from the backyard of Slip Madigan's home in Ottawa, Illinois; switched to halfback earlier this season, Kelly looked unfamiliar in the role and didn't fare so well; back at fullback, he feels at home and revels when power is needed either defensively or offensively.

FLOYD MAXHAM, No. 52, fullback, another Los Angeleno, has been called the most improved player of the current Gael edition; scintillated especially well against Nevada; broke a leg in freshman competition, moved in as understudy to Al Nichelini last year, now a junior and a top-notcher.

LES GROUX, No. 48, halfback, from Oakland's Castlemont High, is another honor student; pronounces his name G-R-E-W; held out of competition last year, astonished crowd with play in Nevada game; works for an asbestos plant in vacations; averaged 26 yards per carry in ball packing against Nevada.

JERRY DENNERLEIN, No. 36, tackle, another southern Californian, an honor student, a varsity debater; injuries kept him out of competition last season; now a junior; German extraction; claims never to have been angered in his life; called "Lunch" by his mates; is a life-saver on a southern beach in the summer.

GERRY CONLEE, No. 40, guard, is Chico's lone representative on the Moraga aggregation; junior; excelled as javelin thrower in high school, was weaned away from track to football and is enjoying equal success; was center and captain of high school C. I. F. champion team; plans to embrace forestry as life work.

ED HALLMAN, No. 35, senior, from San Leandro; is the fastest and one of the smartest of the Gaels; ran the 100 in 9.7 at the 1933 Fresno Relays; digs graves in Hayward for a vacation pastime.

JOHN GIANNONI, No. 39, end, junior from Sacramento, is the same Giannoni who played such a bang-up game at center on the Gael basketball team last season; also a grave-digger in his home town.

THE LAST CHANCE

By JOE ST. AMANT

Publicity Director University of San Francisco

Reversing the old saw, Coach Spud Lewis of the University of San Francisco is today knocking on the door of Opportunity. Opportunity has refused to come to him so, like the clever fellow he is, the genial Spud is taking the matter in his own hands.

Today's game spells success or disaster for the Dons. At the Hilltop St. Mary's is the team to beat. For many long years now the Dons have come close and there is no team they would prefer to beat and no team that has beaten them more consistently than the Galloping Gaels.

The fleeting first fortnight of the 1935 football season saw the Dons drop two contests to Santa Clara and Stanford. Those games are in the record book, forgotten for a while. The last chance is at hand. A lop-sided schedule leaves the Dons with no major opponent after today.

If the Hilltoppers expect to break into the upper crust of grid society they must do it today or sink into the ranks of the mediocre. There are several good reasons for thinking that the Dons might win the long-withheld prize from the Gaels.

Spud Lewis' team as a whole has shown a fifty per cent improvement since the start of the season. The answer the why and the wherefore, is experience and hitherto undiscovered reserve power.

Left with a forward wall shattered by the inevitable equalizer, graduation, Lewis pinned his hopes on certain men and kept his colors flying no matter how fiercely the harpies of fate attempted to tear them down.

In the center position left vacant by the great Larry Siemering, three men have stepped into the breach and it is the consensus of critics that the trio has developed to a point where they equal the work of Siemering.

Roy Burkhead is the defensive stand-by. Burkhead, an unheralded senior, has fought a hard fight for the post with Seb Passanisi, and even today the starting call is a toss-up. Passanisi, the colorful scrappy offensive star; Burkhead, the unobtrusive but efficient defensive bulwark.

Backing up these two is Harvey Neilson, a 215-pound junior college transfer, who is setting a fast pace in his battle for recognition. The big redhead has every qualification for a great pivot man and some observers tab him to take the play away from Burkhead and Passanisi.

Moving into the hole vacated by All-American Jim Barber at right tackle, Lewis has Russ Letlow and Doug Hagens, two giants who have stood out in the rather desultory play of the Don line this season.

Letlow in his last year has been the most consistent performer of the Dons to date. Unruffled by any swaying of the football pendulum, the big boy from Taft has played his position as he only knows how to play it.

From the stands he's just another tackle, but in the pile they all know him. He is the most feared of the Dons, and when the play swings his way watch him ride that opposing guard out of the path of the offense.

Hagens, a great blocker and a strong defensive man, won his spurs in the Nevada game when he took out three men to make possible the 78-yard touchdown run of the speedy Passanisi.

Pairing with Letlow at tackle is the forgotten man of the Dons—Capt. "Pop" Blewett. With the responsibilities of leadership weighing heavily on his shoulders and an annoying leg cutting down his efficiency, Blewett has not played up to his 1934 form this year.

Today should be his day. For three years now he has seen the cleats of the Galloping Gaels as they flashed on to victory. In the last major contest of his college career the stage is set for his triumph. His injured leg has responded to treatment and with a spirited team to back him he above all others should lead the Dons in their greatest struggle.

Hampered by injuries in previous games, the Dons will take the field today at their peak. There is nothing on paper that can give them a chance to win. The Gaels have it over them in man-power, experience, and perhaps even mental attitude.

The Dons aren't a do-or-die outfit. The thought of losing has been pushed out of their minds. They meet the Gaels on even terms.

They meet them with an attack led by the flashy Mike Bacciarini, the pounding Sal Seeno, the line-cracking buzz-saw, Vasco Viceoradio Pucci, and long-punting Ray Peterson.

Peterson will give the Dons a slight edge today in the matter of kicking. Bacciarini stands in the first rank as a passer. If the Dons are fated to win, these two with their proven natural abilities should turn the trick.

The Gaels won't see a defensive team opposite them. In early August Spud Lewis made the promise that his team would attack this year. He has kept that promise even though the Dons failed to crack the Stanford line for a score.

The Dons will have as many fancy, doo-dads in their performance as a circus magician. They've been saving up for "Slip" Madigan and his hard-riding Gaels and they'll shoot the works, win or lose, in one grand splurge.

VIC STRUB, No. 82, end, never played football in high school; has had his poetry published in the Moraga Quarterly, Saint Mary's faculty publication; caught winning touchdown pass against Washington State last season.

EVERETT PENDLETON, No. 43, is a brother of the former Gael end and guard, Wayne Pendleton; lives in San Francisco but hails originally from Salt Lake City; a champion long-distance punter and ping-pong player; senior.

JIM AUSTIN, No. 74, end, junior from Hollywood, is a double for Hairbreadth Harry of the comic strips; works in the Hollywood movie lots during school recesses.

JOE CASSIDY, No. 51, halfback, senior from Chicago, is an outstanding varsity debater; works summers in a sugar refinery; looks the toughest and talks the sweetest of the Gaels; wants to be a G-man.

JIM PRESTON, No. 53, tackle, has a brother playing end for the West Point Army; senior from Tulare.

NED O'LAUGHLIN, No. 42, halfback, junior from Pasadena, joins the ranks of the speedsters, punters, honor students, debaters.

FRANK FERREIRA, No. 46, had a toe shot off in a hunting accident, but is one of the fastest halfbacks of the group; sophomore from Halfmoon Bay.

HUGH SILL, No. 55, halfback, from Bakersfield, hit his stride in the Pacific game after being dogged by the injury jinx for two seasons; has a brother quarterbacking the Gaelic frosh team.

HIROSHI MUKAYE, No. 69, sophomore guard from Los Angeles, is the first son of Nippon to join a Saint Mary's football varsity.

JOE GERARDIN, San Francisco quarterback, is a brother of Hugh Gerardin, Saint Mary's guard of three seasons ago.

The Dons boast three pair of brothers on their present squad: SALVADORE and ERASMUS SEENO, LELAND and LOUIS BEDONI, LOWELL and MEL NICHOLSON.

SEE AMERICA SECOND

By MARTIN BUNKER HILL

"See America First"—to Gael fans.

"See America Second"—to Gaels only.

That's the word being passed around amongst the Galloping Gaels and their followers these crisp October days.

Mr. Madigan and his men will play the part of the tourist for the greater part of the next fortnight or so, but there are three more important roles in which they will be cast.

Today the Merry Moragans must restrict their thoughts of travelling to the space designated between the goal lines if they are to beat the rejuvenated Dons from the University of San Francisco.

A year ago, minds of the Moraga gridders were wandering New Yorkward. Minds of Little Nevada's team were wandering goalward. You remember what happened. So do the Gaels.

That's why it's "See America Second" today.

Anticipation may be greater than realization. However, the Gaels will be a much happier band if they can realize a victory this afternoon and do their anticipating afterwards.

Today Madigan and his men entertain.

Tuesday Madigan and his men entrain. Close to 200 fans will accompany the Gaels on another of their magnificent trans-continental tours.

Passengers on former trips agree that if there is one thing Madigan can do that betters his coaching, it's his planning of trips. His Saint Mary's excursions to New York are reputed to be the best sight-seeing and most educational tours in the nation.

There is so much interesting activity each day that no one dares to think of the following day's schedule.

The more important stop-overs on this year's itinerary include New Orleans, Pensacola, Miami, Silver Springs, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Richmond, Baltimore and Annapolis, all en route to New York City where the Gael rooters will remain for four days at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Chicago is the most prominent resting point of the special train on its way back to California. The Indian country of New Mexico and Arizona provide much of the scenery of the final lap home.

All of this happens in the interlude from October 29th to November 13th. And it is all incidental to the big game at the Polo Grounds in New York with the Fordham Rams on Saturday, November 9th.

Gotham awaits the Saint Mary's team each fall for the westerners provide the opposition for New York's greatest annual inter-sectional pigskin struggle.

But the boys have a little work to do in Kezar today before concentrating on the trip or getting into that Manhattan mood. If the Dons derail the Gaels the time will be spoiled and the trip will be harder to take.

And then the return trek will prove much smoother too if all goes well in the metropolis. To top it off, Mr. Madigan's men must have enough steam left upon their arrival home to crash into Clipper Smith's classy grid machine from Santa Clara, November 17th.

Truly it would be tragic if the Moraga clan returned safely from the East only to have the Broncos take them for a ride. At any rate the Gaels are due to get more than a ticket punched . . . the Broncos will fare well.

A decade or so has elapsed since the Santa Clarans last whipped the Saint Mary's lads. They should be in a proper mood to render the Gaels a really pleasant reception.

But more riled up than the Broncos are the San Francisco Dons. They have never been able to conquer the Moraga tribesmen. Even the mighty Fordham Ram holds but one triumph in four starts over the magical Madigan's Gaels.

It all sums up to the fact that the Gallopers are on the spot. Such a thought is made bearable by the routine and relaxation afforded the Saint Mary's forces by this forthcoming continental junket.

The Don may dent.

The Ram may butt.

The Bronco may kick.

But the Galloping Gaels are ready. They have had two weeks of rest. They are in excellent condition. Enough fuel is being fired the engine so that if they click, the Gaels might even chug through the foes and over the chalked stripes on the field like a locomotive zooming over railroad ties.

There's the whistle.

The Gaels are on their way.

Alllllll 'boarrrrrrdd.
