Crazy Ed Sees

Last night God appeared to Father Ed Martin, known to his friends as "CRAZY ED," and announced, "The meek shall inherit the earth." Ed did not have the nerve to turn Him down. Father Martin's parents are the authors of the forthcoming novel, "THE DIARY OF A LIBERATED PRIEST."

Blackstock Retained

Brother Cassium announced that John Blackstock, President of the Student Body who initiated a five year plan four years ago, will be able to witness its conclusion. When questioned about this the Dean of Studies said, "Who?"

Bonnacci Punished

In an admirable example of biblical justice Pat Bonnacci, Social Chairman for Saint Mary's College, was subjected to four weeks of GALE STORM RERUNS in return for a semester of equal value. Pat has announced that he has secured all of these gems and they will be brought on campus this coming semester by his committee.

Mel Steps Down

In a surprising move to update the College administration Brother Mel Anderson, President of Saint Mary's College, announced his resignation today. Speculation is that former Basketball coach MIKE CIMINO will quit his job as a Miami restraunteer to man the help of Saint Mary's next year.

Applegate

Announcement

In a recent move to try to curb the rising tide of dogs on campus, Stanley Applegate has announced some increased measures which are aimed at reducing this menace. Six undercover agents from the S.P.C.A. have been called on campus to gather information on dogs on campus. In a recent no-knock measure passed Bored of Trkstees, janitors can enter rooms suspected of containing dogs. Penalties have been increased for possession of a dog and even stricter penalties have been created for possession with intent to sell.

In a recent crack-down six armed janitors broke into a room in Augustine suspected of being the headquarters of a dog-dealing network. What had been understood to be dog hairs, though turned out to be only stems from some marijuana plant, which were of no concern to the janitors.

Ed Honored

Brother Ed Martin a former administrator from a Bush League School in Los Angeles was presented the VIC TANNEY "BEFORE" award by the International Brotherhood of Weight Watchers. Brother Martin was quoted as saying "It's all in the mind."

Applegate

Missing

Stanley Applegate, DIRECTOR of ON-CAMPUS FACILITIES has been reported as missing. The Burns Guards reported that they last saw Mr. Applegate as his car approached the infamous "APPLEGATE SPEED DITCH" at the gates of Saint Mary's College. Dredging operations have been conducted at all the ditches on campus but no clues have shown up as yet. The Krak Korps of Kops, the formation of which Mr. Applegate was responsible for, have been beating the bush around the dorms but have had no luck either. It is hoped that when the bottom of the "APPLEGATE SPEED DITCH" is finally found Stan will be at the bottom of it.

Cheerleaders

Exhumed

A check with our registrar's office has squelched the hope that our female cheerleaders are students at Acalanes High School—in actuality they are from Duggins Mortuary. These exciting, vivacious crowd pleasers will be on hand at each basketball game with their repertoire (2) of precision cheers to whip the crowds into a frenzy.

A FIRST

A new first for Saint Mary's College, Mr. Bowman accepted three magic beans in lieu of a year's tuition.

Horseshoes and Handgrenades Fly

Sollini's team, in a three way tie for first place at season's end with Malone and O'Sullivan, beat both teams to finish at the number one spot in the intramural football standings. "It was a big moral victory and a great season," added Sollini after the final game. Indeed it was for the team that went 0-5 last year. Sollini naturally will become Coach-of-the-year. The Most Valuable Player award for the Blue League went to Pete Chacon, quarterback for the Sollini team. The Most Inspirational Player was Bob Fauria, also of the Sollini team.

Mike Bowermaster's team finished the season undefeated to win the Frosh Red League Championship. They played Sollini's team in a post-season game which saw the Blue League team of Sollini beat them in a bitterly-fought contest that ended 32-21. Sollini's team came from behind to score twice in the last two minutes for the win. In All-Star competition between USF, Santa Clara, and Saint Mary's, the underdog team of USF beat a big Santa Clara team 28-6. Saturday was closer as they beat the Saint Mary's All-Stars 25-20. This game came down to the wire, but a stifling defense rkind all of Moraga's hopes for victory.

On Monday, November 23 this same Saint Mary's All-Star team took on the All-Stars of the Red League and won 25-18 in a game that saw the Frosh of the Red League battle up from a huge deficit to a near tie. "Almost only counts in horseshoes and grenades," laughed Rene Revel, chosen as the game's Outstanding Player.

Volleyball season got underway with a game between Malone and Sollini which saw bitter tensions rise between both teams. The game had to be halted for a brief time to breakup a fight. The Outstanding Player was Lou Mason who "spiked" the heavily favored Malone team to a huge victory over Sollini's team.

A reminder to all: anyone wishing to join a team in either league should contact the individual captains for the Red League (freshmen only), or Blue League captains for sophomores and beyond. Basketball season will open in February.

Nairobi Percussion Quartet

The Saint Mary's concert committee is happy to present the NAIROBI PERCUSSION QUARTET AND RUGBY TEAM in concert Friday, January 13 in Brother Mel's outer office. To be performed, among other works, will be the "MAGIC BULL MOVEMENT" by Joham Smadaic Machzstiski, "VARIATION ON A ROACH" by Micky Polenz and a medly of Pattie Page's greatest hits. There will be no charge at the door however there will be a slight fee assigned for those who wish to leave early.

Versluis Weed to Wed

The staff of the Saint Mary's Collegian is happy to announce the marriage of Ed Versluis to Sister Ursula Weed B.V.D. The ceremony will be officiated by Rabbi McIntosh at the Mosque St. Ivan on November the seventh in Phoenix. Marking the climax of an engagement which began before either of their births. Recognizing how the marriage conflicts with previous vows, it was announced that Mr. Versluis will resign his teaching position at Saint Mary's College in order to take up residency at the convent in Pinole with his wife.

Collegian Found

The Collegian brain trust was found in the broom closet on the second floor of Justin where he was sleeping it off under eleven pounds of old newspaper. John Zeller promptly expelled the offender and in one fell swoop deprived the school of a fine with and an excellent vaccum cleaner.

Brother Mel Announcement

Brother Mel has announced that the rumors are not true. That these rumors are being spread by irresponsible elements of our society and if they were true it wasn't his fault anyway. And he wants to make that perfectly clear.

Turk s7asd7 UCLA with Overtime Basket

By MORTON PARCHESSI

Veteran Saint Mary's basketball observers were deeply distressed recently when the spunky Gaels, red pajamas and all, were dumped by the highly-touted Cal State Long Beach 49ers, 110-76.

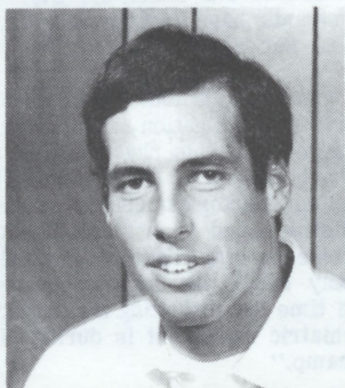

Here was the Gaels' chance for national recognition. The 49ers were actually mentioned in Sports Illustrated's College Basketball Issue, and Gael fans saw a win as an opportunity to compare scores and determine how the team would do when it met UCLA in the NCAA Play-offs.

Certainly a win over CSCLB would indicate that the Gaels would go all the way in the Upper Eau Clair beat traditional rival Oshkosh, Wis., 60-59 in overtime in the annual battle for Lilly Lake, Wis., then Oshkosh upended Denver Bible School in a driving snow (Denver has no gym so they played outside) 83-76, and Denver clipped Bible Institute of Los Angeles, 52-50.

Now the clincher. This summer, in a three-man hunch league in the Pepperdine Girls' gym, three BIOLA starters upended two of UCLA's third string and the Bruin Manager 21-17.

By implementing the PPP it can easily be predicted that when Saint Mary's meets UCLA in the playoffs, the Gaels will beat the Bruins by two points, in double overtime, with LOU MASON scoring the winning basket.

Attaboy, Lou.

WCAC and then meet UCLA. But when SMC lost, everyone figured it was all over—no WCAC title, nothing.

But that impressive 5-6 non-league record, fourth best in the WCAC this year, forced this writer to revive his infamous "Parchessi Prognostication Process" to determine the score versus UCLA, when the Gaels meet—and defeat—UCLA.

Now: SMC lost to CSCLB by 34; But: CSCLB beat Tulsa, 87-82, and Tulsa beat Oklahoma City, 70-67, and Oklahoma City dumped Nebraska Teachers, 98-91, and Nebraska Teachers dumped General Bullmoose, 86-82, and then General Bullmoose, in one of college basketball's biggest upsets, dumped Upper Eau Clair, Wis., 74-71, in overtime.

Now there are doubters of the PPP. So it is necessary to prove the system.

Saint Mary's beat Sonoma State, 91-73, Sonoma dumped Los Angeles Baptist, 87-81, Los Angeles Baptist upended Fresno Pacific, 55-52, in a thriller, and Fresno Pacific tipped Davis, 46-42.

By implementing the PPP, you would have known long before the Davis game that the Gaels would win by five points. So they did—75-70.

Aw, the infallibility of Logic.

ACTIVITIES

AWARD BANQUET

The Lance Renzell Award Banquet will be held on the first Monday following the second Tuesday in February. Once again some gay ole Gael will show what little boys are made of. Amongst those whose outstanding expositions place them in hot contention are: John Ring, Gene Domeck, Phoebe Liegh, John Fannuchi, and Jeff Wright.

DR. SIGMOND GOMEZ

Dr. Sigmond Gomez, Argentinian Plantation owner and expert on foreign affairs, will give a lecture in Dryden Theater Sunday entitled AMERIKA'S PLACE IN SOUTH AMERIKA'S POLITICS. A resident of Argentina since 1945, Mr. Gomez is a distinguished World War II veteran and a graduate of the University of Munich, class of '38. He did graduate work in applied eugenics at Dachau and Buchenwald. Some of his more recent accomplishments include his membership on the grand jury which investigated the Kent State Shoot Out and Governor Reagan's committee investigating the California Rural Legal Assistance League.

TAB HUNTER FILM FESTIVAL

This week, the Saint Mary's Social Committee has announced that they have cancelled the $1,500 speech to be given by Bennett Cerf and replaced it with a TAB HUNTER FILM FESTIVAL. Among those films already secured is the unforgettable I WAS A TEENAGE DRAG QUEEN which placed second for the highly coveted Albanian Film Festival Movie of the Week. It was the only film entered.

TOILET CONTEST

There will be a toilet papering contest at Lake La Salle this Saturday. Jeff Wright is expected to win the crown again this year. Master of Ceremonies will be the bloody bloke Doug, who has been the butt of the champions jokes.

SADIE HAWKINS

The lovely belles of Saint Mary's are cordially invited to attend the Saidie Hawkins Day race this coming Sunday, at 2 a.m. The course will lay from the cross and climax at the spread of the S.M.C.

WARD RAFFEL

A contest has been announced by Mike Ward, Vice-President of the Senior Class. The contest, a raffle, will feature as first prize an evening with Stanley Applegate and second prize will be a tour of Saint Mary's Gardens conducted by Rudy, The Bird Man of Saint Mary's. Mr. Ward has stated that you need not purchase a ticket to win.

EPIDEMIC

Due to an epidemic of Rugger Huggers the rugby team burned their bras and disbanded for the January Term.

WINE

Wine tasting class has been cancelled due to the strike at the Ripple Plant. Brother Myron has announced that due to the impending strike at the Red Mountain factory, wine tasting classes will be held three times a week in addition to the one time already scheduled.

BOAT DANCE

The first On-Campus Boat Dance will be held as soon as Stanley Applegate and the boys under the gym have finished digging a ditch large enough to float a ship in. The price of the bids to be announced, costumes to be announced, time to be announced. A low charge date service, headed by Kathy Donavon, is being set up at Holy Names for anyone, males, who is without a date.

SACRIFICE

Due to an epidemic of bad spirits on the Saint Mary's campus, Doctor Patching will sacrifice three chickens and a vestal virgin on the center pool table in the dead of night during the next full moon.

JOBS

The Placement Office has announced an opening for three chickens and a vestal virgin.

DEBATERS

In a close match the Saint Mary's College debaters lost a close match to the Berkeley School for the Deaf and Dumb. It was eye to eye until the final rebuttal when the Deaf and Dumb School won hands down.

CRUCIFIXION

King Rich the First has announced that the Fourth Floor of Aquinas will sponsor a crucifixion on the hill. In the running for the Christ figure are: Pete Detwiler, Gary O'Neill, Sam Taff, Mike Malloy, and Pat "Ergo" Gemma.

B & E DINNER

The Business and Economics Department is sponsoring a dinner in the Poplar Grove. Guest speaker will be Hal B. Barnett. His topic will be "Insurance and its role in contemporary Christianity." The Honorable James "The Duke" Tognenri will give the major address "Short Stop Man or Myth."

STUPID BONACCI

We the members of Students and Teachers United for Progressive and Innovative Demands are sick and tired of the prostitution of Saint Mary's College. We see the college being sold to the money moguls of big industry and in return they receive the valuable diplomas from this prestigious institution! We see hoards of money being senselessly squandered on and in the athletic department while the washing machines on campus remain unrepaired. The most disgusting prostitution is that of our very own student government. STUPID has sat by and watched our student body fees going into the pockets of those students who are interested in student government and this disgusts us. It has been continually true that only those students interested in student government have received money from Student Body fees while the majority of the students continually receive nothing. Such inane groups as the Executive-Council, the Collegian, The Black Student Union, the Debate Club and minor sports, all of which represent the same interests on campus, receive tens of thousands of dollars while very little is ever spent on the average non-involved student.

Pat Bonnacci our social chairman has done his best to repair this situation but he has had been met with difficulties at every turn. He is allowed to spend only $9,000 on the entire student body while the student body funds are in excess of $50,000. Given enough money Pat could effectively cure most of the major problems of this college. He would be able to see that the washing machines are fixed, the roads paved, that the only dogs on campus belong to former college presidents, that our cheerleaders are properly outfitted and that the SMC on the hill is continually lighted. Pat, being a traditionalist, sought to receive the allocation for his social committee by the standard channels, he did not realize that in a move to cut red tape the Student body treasurer had developed a new method, used first by the cheerleaders, just ask him for money and he writes a check, with the proper O.K. It is not the fault of the persons involved however, it is the fault of the system.

But enough of this tearing down of the present system, we must look at what is right with it. . . ergo we demand that it be thrown out.

Our committee has researched this problem for three years now and believe that we have come up with a progressive and innovative substitute. There will be a legislative branch of the government with one representative from each floor. Not from just the dorms but for every floor in the school. The students would be represented by 16 students (one from each dorm floor), the faculty would be represented by 8 professors (3 from the science complex, 3 from Dante, 1 from the gym and 1 from the psychology building), the day students would have 4 representatives (3 for the library and one for the brickpile) and the administration would have 4 votes in the legislative branch (1 for the rent-a-cop box at the main gate, 1 for the south end of DeLaSalle, 1 for the east end of Dante and one for the administration building). All members to the legislative branch would be picked by lot from their respective groups and any 7 members would constitute an official meeting.

There will also be an executive branch with 4 members, the President of the College, the President of the Student Body, the President of the Faculty and the President of Ace Janitorial Service.

The legislative branch will allocate all the money taken in by the school and the student body, appoint new faculty and administrators, build new buildings and parking lots, appoint the trustees and the regents of the college, issue checks in payment of debts (all 32 members must sign each check) and finally they must give Pat Bonnacci at least 50% of all of their money.

The duties of the executive branch would be to assist the newly hired rent-a-cop in apprehending speeders and illegal parkers and in emptying the trash cans in the students' rooms.

Editorial Statement

The Collegian wants to make it perfectly clear to everyone that the contents of this issue are for enjoyment purposes only and they are not intended to attack, ridicule or hurt ANYONE. All characters and situations in this newspaper are fictional, and any resemblance to any persons living or dead is purely coincidental. This issue has been planned for some time now and we have referred to it as the "Baffoon Issue." The majority of the writers for this issue did not come from our staff and all have requested that they be allowed to remain unknown to those whom they have lampooned and this request was granted in return for their services.

The editors of the Collegian also want to remind everyone in the Student Body that in February the editorship is open to all students. The three present editors do not intend to continue on any longer in this capacity because we feel that as second semester seniors our interests lie outside this school. We will gladly give help to any person or group preparing to take over the editorship. We have only two more issues so you had better hurry.

STUPID realizes that this plan is not that much different, in effect, than the system that is presently failing to operate but it could function no more ineffectively than this system either. STUPID has suggested this change not for change sake nor in a belief that it would be any less silly than our present system but because it would be more relevant and that is what STUPID is all about.

DRAFT DODGE COLUMN:

Each week The Collegian offers a Draft Law Column to its readers. The column is written by John M. Striker and Andrew O. Shapiro of the Military and Draft Law Institute, New York City. Striker and Shapiro are the authors of a recent draft law guide, "Mastering the Draft: a comprehensive guide for solving draft problems," published by Little, Brown and Company.

This column is offered as general advice; for specific questions on the draft, a draft counselor should be consulted.

Copyright 1970 by John Striker and Andrew Shapiro

HOMOSEXUALITY AND THE DRAFT

Some young men have been studying the Army's list of disqualifying medical and psychological defects in search of ailments whose only objective signs are symptoms which the examinee alone can relate. Bearing letters from their family physician or psychiatrist, these young men reveal back injuries, migraine headaches, allergies, or psychoses, etc., developed shortly before their preinduction physicals. With only the family doctor's letter and the registrant's own testimony to go on, the examining doctor will usually reject.

One common ailment is listed by the Army as "character and behavior disorders as evidenced by . . . overt homosexuality or other forms of sexual deviant practices such as exhibitionism, transvestism, voyeurism, etc." Notice, the rejection is for OVERT homosexuality, i.e., a PRACTICING homosexual not a state of mind.

In some cities, groups have organized and trained to become "overt homosexuals" in order to convince skeptical private doctors or Armed Forces Entrance and Examining Station (AFEES) personnel. Other registrants have located helpful doctors through organizations such as the Medical Committee for Human Rights.

Will these young men be rejected? Under the law, AFEES examining doctors have no obligation to disqualify a registrant merely because he appears at this physical with a doctor's letter stating he is an overt homosexual. (Bear in mind that under Army Regulations, an examining doctor can choose to ignore letters from a psychologist, as distinguished from a full-fledged psychiatrist). The doctor may exercise his own judgement and decide the examinee is acceptable. He may follow the Army Regulations' advice that "the more desirable time for evaluating the individual's functional ability from a psychiatric standpoint is during his basic training period (i.e., in boot camp.)"

On the other hand, the examining doctor may follow an informal directive recently issued to examining doctors: "More credence should be given to diagnosis made under private physicians, especially in the area of psychiatry. If evidence is submitted which is disqualifying, then disqualify."

Is there any way for the examining doctor to know for certain if the examinee is faking? Our interviews revealed a divided opinion. Dr. Gabriel Kirschenbaum, the chief Medical Advisor for the New York City Selective Service System, noted that homosexuals who claim, for instance, to have engaged in anal intercourse should have developed physical traits which can be diagnosed by the experienced physician. These traits may include an enlarged rectum, anal fissures and fistulae, or "plague" (venereal warts in the anal canal).

An AFEES doctor contended that he could spot a "faker" a mile away. He used "shock" techniques. For example, he would begin his interview with the question: "When was the last time you got laid?" After an hour of this, he claimed, the "fakers" would break down.

Col. Paul Akst, the State Director for New York City Selective Service, reported that the AFEES maintain lists of "helpful" doctors. When a letter is received from these doctors, it is disregarded. He indicated that if the AFEES received more than six letters from one doctor, he qualifies for the list.

Finally, the Federal Bureau of Investigation sometimes helps out by sitting in on the training sessions for would-be homosexuals. It is worth bearing in mind that faking homosexuality to evade induction is a crime punishable by up to five years in prison and/or a $10,000 fine.

In general, however, those doctors this reporter felt were being frank indicated that, in fact, there is no real way of knowing if an examinee is faking. As one AFEES doctor confessed: "If the kid knows what he's doing, and doesn't overdo it, he'll probably be rejected. Our attitude is, if in doubt, reject."

The variety of opinions expressed by the examining doctors probably fortells the varying results examinees will face. A suspicious doctor is likely to spot faking in an actual homosexual. Psychiatry is hardly an exact science. Thus, the very attractiveness of the undiagnosable ailment makes it difficult to question adverse findings.

Let us assume a young man who has brought in documentation is nonetheless found acceptable. Does he have any recourse in the courts? The answer is no. The courts believe the right to reject belongs to the Armed Forces, for whose benefit the right exists. Abuse of this right is, therefore, deemed to hurt the Armed Forces, not the registrant. Courts simply will not review the judgement of the Army's examining doctors.

Though receiving a medical deferment on psychiatric grounds may not be very difficult, the deferment may come back to haunt the registrant later in his life. In the near future, this column will discuss this problem and how to deal with it.
