Controller's Statement

$400,000 Profit ? Not Quite !

The Financial Status of Saint Mary's College

Contrary to some reports, I would like to reassure you that Saint Mary's College did not operate at a $400,000 profit last year. According to our audited financial statements, the College operated at a loss of $309,412. Indeed the College has not operated at a profit during any single year in recent history.

While the College is hopeful of completing the current fiscal year with a slight net income, currently estimated at $14,000, we will still have a very large accrued deficit to finance. This deficit ($585,000 at June 30, 1971) requires periodic borrowing from commercial sources to maintain regular operation of the College. Interest alone on this borrowing will require the outlay of $20,000 during the current year.

To help you understand the significance of this deficit, let me explain what a surplus could do for this College. It could help avoid an increase in tuition. It could provide more funds for student financial aid - both minority students and other students who currently find it very hard to qualify for financial assistance. It could help meet faculty and staff requests for higher salaries. It could help the College do innovative and imaginative things which will lead to an improvement in the quality of education. By contrast, a deficit means that we simply must limit these very desirable goals.

The financial situation we are in is not unique to Saint Mary's College. Many remedies have been and will be proposed, and some offer substantial hope of future elimination of the operating deficit.

SLEEPERS AWAKE - HERE COMES THE SUN!

A new age odyssey into sound, color, and light with music from Johann Sebastian Bach to George Harrison will be presented at 8 pm Wednesday, March 15, 1972, in Dryden Hall.

The program will be a simlensory experience designed to help unlock the doors of perception and reveal some further realities of music, its power, and magic.

The program is presented by the Lecture Committee of the Campus Ministry and is free to all.

Utopia Lecture and Discussion

On Thursday, March 9, at 8:00 in the evening, Eva Braun delivered a lecture on Sir Thomas More's Utopia. Dr. Braun, who is at present an instructor at Saint John's College at Annapolis, received graduate and post graduate degrees in the classics at Princeton University. Through her background in the Classics, Miss Braun has had opportunity to apply practically her scholarship -- she was a member of the original archaeological dig at the Agora. She has also taught at Princeton and Stanford as well as at Saint John's.

In the past years Dr. Braun has lectured at Saint Mary's College in such subjects as Plato's Republic and the philosophies of Kant in the Integrated Program's bi-annual series of lectures on Kant.

Her talk on the Utopia of More prompted several hours of discussion afterward in the tradition of lectures sponsored by the Program. These lectures are held weekly, and all the student body is invited to attend.

Budget Considered

Budget Evaluation
"With it's reliance on the student tuition and fees for 75 percent of it's revenue the College depends heavily on it's students; with it's tradition of small classes, seminar methods, student participation in learning, and evaluation of teachers primarily on excellence in teaching, the College in a real way exists for its student."

-SMC Faculty Handbook

In lieu of this statement I believe we can safely say that the college is an institution "by the people." It has recently been questioned as to whether or not the college is truly "of and for the people."

Where is the money? The administration honk on till they're blue in the face but they won't be able to tell us as much about the priorities of this college as the figures available to us in the form of the schools financial books. Any students of statistics knows that by the manipulation of the figures out of context, any point can be proven. However, it must be stated, this was not our purpose in our evaluation. We have attempted to put this large quantity of material into a form that will be most useful to students for drawing their own conclusion.

In discussions with Mr. Oakes (Assistant to the President) and Mr. Holloway (Controller of the College) we have been informed that the upcoming budget for the year 1972-73 is in no way finalized. The various departments are still in possession of their proposals that must be submitted for approval. A preliminary budget proposal has been submitted by each department earlier this year, but were rejected. There was simply not enough revenue to cover proposed expenses. All of the five major departments were asked to make cut-backs of five percent in order to balance the books. It remains to be seen exactly where these cut-backs will be made. When these cut-backs are finally made we will be able to discern the real priorities of the College.

The College Union, Slip Madigan Field, and the Townhouses are not relevant here, (says the administration), because their funds are from "outside forces" and are not relevant to the normal operation of the College and its budget. These operations will enter into the budget of the school once they are completed and require certain operational expenses.

Our personal recommendations (which incidentally have been discussed and in part agreed upon by Mr. Oakes) is that there be no further reduction in the academic budget for the coming year, and that academics be given the highest priority of the College. We also suggest that the administration take a closer look at itself and its expenses as a possible means to solve their budgetary dilemma.

Views and Suggestions

It's amazing. The administration is going to meet with our student body officers and discuss current issues directly related to students and administrative action. A vote can be taken on important issues and the results taken and understood as simply advisory. The most important aspect of such a program is that we students have the facts behind administrative action. Sure, some sceptics thought that the administration would never tell us the truth. They were wrong. The administration wanted no more false rumors and no more false statements. They wanted students to feel like stockholders, and to understand how a college is run.

"It's simply an extension of education," someone was quoted as saying.

It's strange now to remember back on old hassals, when your parents (excuse me...I mean the administration) used to plan everything for you and when you asked "why?", they said, "because." Now, they listen to us, and they explain their actions to us. They treat us as adults and should be respected and thanked for it.

I'm sorry this article is false. The administration has not yet heard of "The Collegian Proposal" which appears below. All past experience and present administrative attitude would indicate that the administration is not going to listen to us, or talk to us, in public on an equal basis. They don't want us to understand the reasons behind their actions.

"Why?"
"Because."

A Collegian Proposal

The Collegian makes the following proposal to establish permanent channels of communication between the students, and the Administration of Saint Mary's College.

We propose that any time, on the request of the Executive Council, our student body officers meet with an equal number of Administrative officials to discuss and explain any issue concerning administrative action, that, these discussed issues be voted on, the results be made public, and these results be considered as an advisory recommendation.

Household Hints

by Michael Welch

Hello brothers and sisters. This weeks article is going to be about food and certain household products that need mentioning. The household products that are most important are vinigar and baking soda. The functions of these two are endless, but I'll run a few down to you.

Now baking soda has multiple uses. For instance, when your coffee pot begins to put a nasty taste in your brew, sprinkle some soda in and fill with water. Boil for ten minutes; every two weeks. It's always advisable to keep soda near the stove, in case of a grease fir. IF you run out of tooth paste, pour some into your hand and scoop it up with the wet brush. Last of all, relief from the morning after the "I ain't got nothing to do so I guess I'll get the drunk blues" gag down a half a teaspoon in a half a glass of water. As soon as you burp, you'll probably kick back and feel better, and wish you were dead.

Next is vinigar. Red vinigar is the best and it has the most home remedies. If you have poison oak or any of you athletes have athletes foot, soak the rash with a rag saturated in vinigar. It may hurt for a while, but it works. For the non-athlete with longish hair and no cake for cream rinse, use vinigar and water. When the slows slow you down, put a shot in a hlaf glass of water and chug it. Best hold your nose while your doing it. It helps if you say a couple of "Our Father's" before you mix the two.

In talking about food, you first purchase it, and then cook it. If you want say sirloin steaks, buy a sirloin tip roast and cut your own steaks. Ham-burger diets are also good because of the many ways of cooking it. Always buy good spices, even if you have to skimp on the other items. To prevent boiling noodles from flowing over, add a drop of cooking oil. Always buy soft margine in these plastic containers, it beats buying tupperware.

Well next week I may talk more about kitchen tricks. If any of you mellow people out there have any hints that we can all use, or if you have a problem in your household that I may solve, drop me a line in care of General Delivery. So long till next week. If you don't take it easy then take it anyway. Who was that masked man...?

Archaeology Discussion Set

"Classical Sites From the Air" is the topic of a slide lecture to be given by the Reverend Raymond V. Schoder, S.J., professor of classical literature and archeology at Loyola University, Chicago, on Thursday, March 16, at 8 p.m. in the audio-visual room of St. Albert Hall Library at Saint Mary's College in Moraga.

The slides, which include the main archaeological sites of Greece and Italy, were taken from hired private airplanes at times and at other times taken when Father Schoder "hitch-hiked" on an army plane. Many of the shots are of high adventure as he "hung" out of small planes, etc.

Father Schoder joined the Jesuit order in 1933 after graduation from high school in Battle Creek, Michigan. He received his Ph.D. in classical studies in 1944 from St. Louis University, was ordained a priest in 1947, and received his S.T.L. in 1948 from West Baden Pontifical University.

Poetry Reading

Charles Simic, widely known as an anthologist of younger poets presented a reading of his poetry Thursday, March 9, at 8 p.m. in Dryden Reception Hall on the Moraga campus of Saint Mary's College.

Simic, who is a teacher at Cal-State, Hayward, has had several books published. Among them are "The Grass is Speaking" and "Somewhere Among Us a Stone Is Taking Notes." His newest book is "Dismantling the Silence." He also has a volume of translations for Yugoslavian poets.

Born in Yugoslavia, he grew up in New York City where he was at one time editor of "Aperture" during which time it received the "Best Magazine Award on Photography" in the country.

Among his anthologies are "The Young American Poets" and "Poets of the Seventies." He has received several literary awards made to younger poets.

The Obscurantist Alternative

Dear Editor:

St. Mary's College has been beset by an unusual amount of turmoil in recent weeks. The central event leading to this turmoil was the termination of Odell Johnson's contract as Dean of Students. Cries of racism were heard following the termination (a charge which is certainly false, as Bro. Mel has himself stated). One wonders then, "Why all this commotion?" Far be it from me to accuse anyone of wild-eyed radicalism, so I will simply offer the explanation that those students and faculty members (who are being paid to teach, not protest) who have been acting so irresponsibly are simply misguided individuals.

Society is made up of rules which we must follow. True, not all laws are just, but they must be obeyed so that society may progress in an orderly fashion. This "law of nature" holds true, not only in society, but in a College also. Bro. Mel is the President of this College, and this decision was his to make, and not subject to a "popularity poll" by students and faculty who apparently feel that they know more than Bro. Mel. In a democratic society we are to abide by the rulings made by those in office. This decision was made through the proper channels by the President of this College. Of course, people can express differing opinions, but we must realize that Bro. Mel has far more information available to him on this matter than any student possibly could, and that he would not have made this decision if he did not feel that it was in the best interests of St. Mary's College as a whole (and that includes both blacks and whites).

The extremely volatile nature of this situation was seized by a few individuals who seem to be hell-bent on destroying St. Mary's College. Yes, destroying! I came to St. Mary's a few years ago because I felt deeply about what it had to offer. Now look at it; we have co-education, no requirements, drugs, all sorts of minority classes (what happened to courses for my minority - the Irish?), and a decline in the interest in sports.

St. Mary's has had a fine and honorable tradition. I see no reason why we can't once again capture the magic of the past, build, through the guidance of the Christain Brothers, a new and better St. Mary's College. True, we have problems, but we must remember that we cannot solve them by this screaming and yelling at Bro. Mel and the Christain Brothers. The Christain Brothers seek only the best for St. Mary's College, and I feel that it is time that they received some of the support and thanks which they so strongly deserve.

Someone who cares

A Modest Proposal

I should like to propose to the vote of the Associated Students of Saint Mary's College that at its pleasure it request the Executive Council to demand of the Administration the Second Coming, to be held next week. And, inasmuch as this is a Catholic Institution, I should hope that there be no academic penalty imposed upon attendance at this event.

Third World Release

The text of the BSU-MECHA press conference appears in its entirety, exactly as presented. As is our practice, The Collegian disclaims all responsibility for its contents.

We the BSU and Mecha have called this press conference to inform the public of the gravity of the present atmosphere at the college. We at this time preface all further statements and conversation with the intentions of clarifying the significance of certain Black and Chicano movements. Although there are many serious problems within the athletic department, the expression of the Black athletes was out of frustration of their attempts to successfully represent the college while the college continues to foster an environment that is not conducive to Black and Chicano students. The athletes concerned will air their position again publicly in the near future.

Our purpose is to speak for Black and Chicano students collectively at St. Mary's. Although there has not been benign neglect, St. Mary's has not actualized its obligation to Black and Chicano students, faculty and administrators. We pose the question in light of Mel Anderson's statement made on January 7, 1972 to representatives of the Third World students that "I have no legal, and-or moral obligation to consult with students." Specifically, we are more than impressed that the college is operating under devinely manifested racism. We represent 14 percent of the student body which the college clearly feels is a proud accomplishment, yet we have insufficient financial aid from the college to assist us in continuing an education there. In reality $64,000.00 is ear-marked for us representing approximately $628.00 per student. It has been stated by the president that we receive half of the monies from the financial aid program, and yet we accrue a $4-8,000.00 debt at the end of four years due to loans.

In view of the college's proclaimed commitments both locally and nationwide, we have sufficiently inadequate numbers of Black and Chicano faculty, staff and administrators. There are only 9 faculty, excluding an assistant coach. Of these two Blacks and one Chicano are full-time. Three of the nine have already been dismissed. We have two Black administrators and one Chicano. Only one administrator has been at the college any substantial time, and he has been dismissed despite the opposition of over 90 percent of the college community. Of the remaining two administrators the senior member has been there less than six months. There are no faculty that has been there longer than six months. There has never been a tenured Black or Chicano faculty member, administrator, nor has there ever been a tenured woman in these positions.

As a result of our arduous struggle to get the college to implement special programs designed to meet the cultural, personal and academic needs of Black and Chicano students, our budget has yet to be at a viable level and that is in jeopardy of reduction. Our budget for calendar year 71-72 was $3,500.00 for developing special programs. That is approximately $15.00 per student, already the insufficient number of ethnic studies, totalling 14 and meeting college requirements but are not required courses, have been reduced and are in jeopardy of further reduction because of reduction in Black and Chicano faculty. The college has been more than willing to advertise its so called affirmative action program, at least in skeletal written form, but it does not meet personnel policies as required by law. A majority of non-academic personnel do not have written contracts. The college has not met job announcement requirements for the positions of: Vice President for Business Affairs, Vice President for Student Affairs, Vice President for Development, Dean of Women, Academic Counselor, & Director of the College Union. Faculty positions are generally unannounced. There is no means of reviewing grievances for non-academic personnel, as particularly exemplified since the dismissal of Odell Johnson, Dean of Students.

Because of these obvious violations of commitment to the Christianity preached by the school, we question our imposed continued struggle in the academic world. Why do we have to fight and learn at the same time while white students have only to learn? This is a vicious, demonstrably, racist cycle. We have exhausted all avenues. We at this time make it known that we will suffer these indignities no longer! In fact we will call for an investigation by federal and state interested offices.

Intramural Program Defended

Intramural Rebuttal

In response to Mr. Baldwin's article concerning the Intramural Program: With regard to the past football season, the fields were lined once a week and during the rainy season, twice a week. The accusation that the rules were not published is false. They were handed out to the captains at the same time the schedules were handed out. Concerning the officiating of the games I can only say that the Intramural Program is allotted $1033 to work with therefore professional referees cannot be obtained. The people who did in fact referee the games did an above average job considering the unsportsman-like conduct of the players. A man can only take so much even if he has a striped shirt on. His salary is extremely low considering the amount of criticism he has to take.

There were no play-offs with Santa Clara and USF because neither school was willing to co-operate. You wonder where the intramural manager was? He spent two days trying to work out a time and a place which both schools would agree to, but neither team was willing to agree.

As for coed intramural volleyball, there were sign-up sheets posted around campus but only one team was turned in. What is the intramural manager supposed to do when the students themselves will not take the time to show an interest in the intramural program?

There is no doubt that the officials of the basketball games are two great guys. It is also true that they did in fact letter in football. It should be known that they both played four years of basketball in high school, each lettering three years on the varsity. If you have any doubts as to their knowledge of the rules I welcome anyone in the Intramural Program here at school to sit down and discuss the rules of the game with them.

In a time when it seems easier to complain than to take constructive action, Mr. Baldwin's letter does not surprise me. However, I suggest that before he does complain again that he gather the facts of the matter.

You may not be sure what it is but that's the new volleyball court and Bar-B-Que pit just completed on the east side of Justin Hall.

Under the guidance of Brothers Martin Ash, Gabriel Murphy, and Jerome West, residents of Justin, Becket, and More Halls helped construct the "Southern California style" volleyball court, having a sand floor.

Weekend working parties were a common sight, with Tom Gemma, Jim O'Brian, and Justin Blackstock leading the pack. The financial assistance was given by the Dorm Council, and the net and balls have been donated from various parties.

Jim O'Brian was quoted as saying that, "the court is open to the entire school and that Brother Martin Ash has formed a volleyball team which will challenge any other team on campus for a tournament in the near future."

Also in the near future, Justin Hall will sponsor a Bar-B-Que and will play host to resident students, sometime before Easter vacation.

Sports Notes

This may be a first. Rumor has it that the varsity Baseball team has added two bat girls to the team. The next home game is Friday March the tenth at 2:30. It should be interesting to see.

Pool hours are from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. The pool has a lifeguard on duty at those times.

Women's Nite begins at 7 p.m. on Wednesday evenings, rather than 9 p.m. as was announced in the Collegian last week.

Rugby Club Splits Pair

Last Saturday was a near perfect day as the St. Mary's Rugby Club split two games.

The varsity trounced the U.C. Santa Cruz varsity side 44-0 while the Gael Seconds lost their first game 16-4 to the Air Force.

The Varsity started shortly after 1:30 p.m. and quickly dominated the game. Throughout the season the Gaels have been hampered by their lack of experience and team work that is essential in this game, Saturday reversed this trend.

Throughout the match the varsity club was persistent on offense and were led in their scoring by Jerry Murphy and Dan Baradat with two tris a piece. While the likes of Will Geselbracht, Jim Datrice, Mike Rocchi, and others melted through the Santa Cruz defense while Sean Devine led the forwards in what looked to be one of their finer games.

The second game of the afternoon was between the Mather Air Force side and the Gael Seconds. The Gaels succumbed to their opponents speed and better conditioning as they lost their first game. In comment leader Mike Boele stated, "But next week were going down to Santa Clara and play their number one side and really take it to them, and that's a quote."

Athletic Director Dr. Don McKillip must have breathed a sigh of relief on learning that The Associated Students and The Ex-Council had both defeated The Faculty proposal to "phase out" major sports.
